

Join us for a featured talk and reception
with New York Times bestselling author

Annabelle Gurwitch

Thursday, September 24, 2026

5:30 p.m. at New Beginnings Collaborative Center
(530 E. Montecito St. Suite 101, Santa Barbara)

Wine and hors d'oeuvres will be served

Annabelle will discuss her new book — an instant national bestseller!

“Gurwitch is at her most fearless—witty, skeptical, and wide awake to the absurdities of being alive.”

— Lori Gottlieb, New York Times bestselling author of Maybe You Should Talk To Someone

Annabelle Gurwitch is a New York Times Bestselling author, actress, and patient advocate known for her wit, warmth, and candor. She is the author of six memoirs whose writing has appeared in the New York Times, Washington Post, Los Angeles Times, and New Yorker Magazine amongst other publications.

Annabelle has a long association with New Beginnings, having been a dedicated activist in support of housing the underserved and providing mental health services for marginalized members of our community.

Her most recent memoir, The End of My Life is Killing Me, The Unexpected Joys of a Cancer Slacker, published in March 2026, is a national bestseller. Annabelle shares her coping strategies and how she cultivates joy even in her darkest hours with both hilarity and heartfelt insights.

Annabelle and her book have been featured on Fresh Air with Terry Gross, AARP Magazine, The Hollywood Reporter, The New York Times and most recently on All Things Considered on NPR.
